

Come experience with us the benefits of:
Agility, Innovation, Integration and Liberty

If you are not living on the edge...
you are taking too much space!

Ephlux IT Services help you gain and maintain your competitive edge by ensuring that your IT assets are kept aligned with your key business objectives.

Our IT Services ensure that your business stays agile and innovative, remains integrated vertically and horizontally and your growth potential is liberated beyond your organizational and geographical boundaries.

Application Services

Ephlux excels in providing application management, development and support services through intelligent collaborative sharing of process and systems with its customers and partners. Our delivery capabilities are strongly augmented by our global presence, international affiliations and robust communication strategies backed by state-of-the-art delivery and support infrastructure.

Enterprise Integration Services

Ephlux through its intelligent approach using SOA (Service Oriented Architecture) and middle ware technologies integrates your people, processes, applications and data to enable business optimization and agility both within your organization and across your alliances and supply chains.

Embedded Software Design & Development

Ephlux provides real-time embedded software design, development and validation services including I/O drivers, communications modules, digital signal processing, control and data acquisition algorithms. By teaming up with our other IT services, we address market forces dictating integration of these once standalone units with your business systems and bringing improved user interfaces to them.

Agile Outsourcing Services (ITO/BPO Bundled Services)

Ephlux works with you to draw execute and manage your agile outsourcing (ITO/BPO) roadmap aligning the transition of your outsourced IT assets and business processes with your business objectives thus transforming you in to an agile enterprise that thrives globally.

Web Design & Development

Ephlux provides professional Web design and development services to help make your company's online presence stand out from the crowd. We design or re-design your current website, create a unique and memorable corporate identity and work with you on all of your design needs.

Our IT Services ensure that your business stays agile and innovative, remains integrated vertically and horizontally and your growth potential is liberated beyond your organizational and geographical boundaries.
